

YOU'VE WON A FREE AUTOMATED EMAIL SEQUENCE

I'm giving away a free automated email sequence to coaches and consultants like you.

Of course, I'm not giving away a free automated email sequence to just anybody. I'd be out of business if I did that.

However, after having created dozens of successful email sequences for coaches and consultants like you, I realize it's the perfect way to help other you get more clients.

You see, automated emails add an extra stream of predictable income to businesses. And in my experience, coaches and consultants really appreciate the difference this makes to their bottom line.

Instead of relying on Facebook and Google ads, automated emails let you tap into your biggest resource - your email list.

Statistics show that automated emails have 8x more opens and clicks than any other type of email and can generate 6x more revenue.

In other words...

Without automated email sequences, you're leaving 10% to 25% of your total revenue on the table every single month.

One Free Email Automation Sequence (Up To 3 Emails)

There are no strings attached - and no funny business.

Just a free, no-obligation way for you to see fantastic results from your very own automated email sequence.

Here's how it works.

You'll receive one email campaign, consisting of 3 emails. You can choose either a cart or page abandonment campaign. Cart abandonment campaigns are sent to prospects who visit your order page but don't buy your product or service. Page abandonment campaigns are sent to prospects who visit your sales page but don't purchase.

Both campaigns help convert these hesitant prospects into eager customers.

I'll write an email campaign designed to engage your customers and get them to come back to your sales page and buy from you - while making sure each email fits in with your company's tone, style, and mission statement.

Once the results roll in, you'll have two choices.

1) You decide you'd like more profit-boosting email sequences like the one you've received. In that case, we'll talk about other email campaigns you can implement that will increase your income even further.

2) Or two, you decide you're not ready to implement more campaigns, and we'll part ways with no hard feelings. It's important to me that my clients are happy with the copy they've received, so I'll never push you or be rude. It's just not the way I want to run my business.

Whatever you choose, you're under no obligation to use my services, and again, your 3 email campaign is totally free!

If you'd like to get your own free money-making email campaign, click here. You'll be directed to a short form that gives me the info I need to get started on your free email campaign.

Don't wait too long, however. My busy season is right around the corner, and I'd hate to have to turn anyone away.
